Koart week. Miss Kate Cobb entertained the Old Maids Monday evening.

The B. P. & W. R'y are selling round trip tickets to Washington from this place for $14.80.

G. S. Hunter requests us to state that all who wish to visit his brother will be passed over the bridge free of toll.

A twelve-pound boy arrived at the house of our friend Jack McCalmont last Sunday night, over which he was highly pleased when we saw him on Monday.

Charley Davis came home from Harrisburg last week, and his brother Jimmy has gone on to take his place as one of the pages of the House. Chas. denies that he got homesick.

The brilliant and gifted Senator Matt Carpenter, of Wisconsin, died in Washington on Thursday last. The Republican party loses a big gun in the death of Senator Carpenter.

Prof. Smith's vocal class at Tidoute will close with a grand concert next Friday evening. The Professor has had a very successful term, and invites all his Tionesta friends to attend his concert.

Rev. Hill is conducting a series of revival meetings at Beaver Valley which are attended with good results. Sixteen conversions thus far, and the interest is still growing deep. May the good work continue.

General Garfield is in Washington now, and next Friday will be inaugurated President of the United States. The affair will be attended by representatives from all parties. General Hancock will take part in the programme.

We had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of Mr. Geo. W. Warden, book-keeper for Wheeler & Dusenbury, at East Hickory, who was drafted on the jury this week. We hope Mr. W. will make it convenient to call whenever he is in town.

E. E. Clapp, of President, the man who would rather see excellent thoroughfares and everything about him in the best of order than to be elected to Congress, paid our town a visit yesterday. Mr. Clapp is always a welcome visitor to our sanctuary.

Andrews' free Titusville excursions have dwindled down, so there are scarcely a half dozen on the trains when they leave this place. We can't see how it pays to haul empty coaches to and fro over the railroad, P. S.—Since writing the above we learn from the Derrick specials that W. H. Andrews and De Forest Weld have failed.

We neglected, in the general rush of things last week, to mention the arrival of Mr. Will H. May, of Louisville, Ky., who made his parents and many friends here a visit of a day or two. He was looking well and reports his family the same. In company with his brother Ben., he paid a visit to Bradford. Will is always a welcome visitor in Tionesta.

Mr. Geo. L. Scott, of Jenks township informs us that operations in the cherry and ash lumber business in that section have been very active this winter. Ships & Mensch, who are sawing for Dr. Towler have upward of 400,000 feet of cherry and ash sawed out. A sixteen-foot cherry log recently taken out scaled 1100 feet, which is an evidence that the lumber is first class.

The condition of Mr. John Hunter, who was seriously scalded in the railroad accident, is considerably improved, and his physicians consider his recovery as very probable. It was thought at one time that one or both hands would have to be amputated, but there are now no fears entertained in that direction. That his hands will be slightly crippled may be the case, but the doctor's think his complete recovery is very probable. May it be so.

Dr. Towler, of Jenks township, was in town this week. The Doctor is actively engaged this winter in the cherry and ash lumber business, besides which he expects soon to resume operations on the well which he abandoned a year ago this winter at a depth of 1000 feet. He informs us that he will sink it a thousand or fifteen hundred feet deeper; operations to commence in the course of a week or two. We hope the Doctor's pluck may be rewarded by a 50-barrel gusher.

Tuesday of last week, Mrs. Wilcox, who lives on the Fogle Farm, Harmony township, this county, met with an accident which has since proved fatal. She endeavored to kindle a fire with kerosene oil, when, as is generally the case, the can exploded, throwing the oil over her and burning her terribly. She lingered until Saturday when death relieved her of her sufferings. This is another terrible warning to those who are in the habit of using kerosene for lighting fires.

The following jury has been impaneled by Coroner Coburn to investigate the cause of the railroad accident at President: G. W. Robinson, A. H. Partridge, Geo. W. Sawyer, S. J. Wolcott, N. G. Cole, S. H. Haslet. The jury held an inquest on the body of Mrs. Babcock on Thursday, and on Friday went down to the scene of the accident to view the ground over. They took Mr. Joseph Green's testimony and then adjourned to meet next Friday. It will probably be a week or ten days before they render their decision.

Representative Davis came home Friday and staid until Monday. He reports business at the Capital brick, and says that although the Senatorial squabble held on so long, business of the Legislature was far more along than usual, according to what old members tell him. Mr. Davis has left with us the text of a bill entitled "An act to provide education and maintenance for destitute and neglected children." The bill is too lengthy for our columns, but should any one interested care to look it over they are invited to call and do so. The bill was offered by Representative Landis.

Horrible Saw Mill Accident.

One of the most frightful, sickening accidents that has taken place in this section for many years occurred at Reck & Hasselback's mill, near Black's Corners, Clarion county, last Saturday morning about nine o'clock. The unfortunate man was Lawsonham Smithers, who had done the edging on the mill since last fall. The edger is one which feeds itself, and has several rollers with iron teeth to catch the lumber and run it through. The young man was leaning over the saw at the time fixing something about the machinery when one of the rollers caught his clothes, and before he could release himself pulled him down, his head striking the saw, which cut it diagonally across the forehead and under the ear, almost totally severing the head from the body. Men rushed to his assistance, but the work was instantaneous, and he was past rescuing quicker than thought. He showed signs of life for nearly ten minutes after the horrible occurrence. He was carried to the house and his remains nicely cared for by Mr. F. M. Reck, one of the proprietors of the mill.

The unfortunate victim was a young man aged about 23 years of age, unmarried, and his parents live in Helen township, Clarion county. He was known and respected as a man of steady and industrious habits, and was well thought of by his employers and all who knew him.

Card of Thanks.

Myself and family would return their sincere thanks to the citizens of Tionesta and vicinity for their kindness and attention during our severe affliction in the sudden loss of son and brother.

MRS. C. M. COON. Tionesta, March 1, 1881.

Death of Mrs. Alice C. Babcock.

We are called upon this week to chronicle the death of this most estimable and highly esteemed lady. Death came to her relief about 9 o'clock on Wednesday evening last, and she expired apparently with little pain, after bearing for nearly thirty hours without a murmur, the agonies of the terrible scalding received in the railroad disaster. Human aid seemed of no avail, and nothing could be done except to mitigate her sufferings as much as possible. The last obseques took place from the house of her father, Mr. T. C. Jackson, on Friday last, and were attended by a large circle of friends. We never attended a funeral where the sympathy was more general, deep and genuine than on this sad occasion. The services were performed by Rev. J. F. Hill, of this place, whose sympathetic discourse was consoling and appropriate.

At 12 o'clock the special train, which was waiting at the depot, and which had brought a large number of friends from Franklin, started for Warren, where the deceased had passed her youthful days, and where her remains were laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery of that place; A large number attended from this place. Owing to some misunderstanding as to time of starting from Franklin, many of the lady friends of the deceased who had arranged to attend were left. Among the gentlemen present were, L. Chapman, John Lambertson, Ex-Sheriff Horton, John Hope, Fleming and Wm. Elliott, Thos. Alexander and many others whose names escape us.

Mrs. Alice C. Babcock was born in Warren county, January 9, 1858, and at the time of her death was aged twenty-two years, one month and fourteen days. She was married to Charles Babcock on the 2d day of October, 1879, and immediately moved to Franklin, where they lived in happy union up to the time of the sad disaster, when they were on their way to visit relatives and friends in Irvineton and this place. She was endowed with many noble qualities of heart and mind, and her amiable, gentle disposition endeared her to all who knew her. She leaves a worthy husband, one child, a father, mother, two sisters and two brothers to mourn her untimely death, and these have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community, over which this awful occurrence has cast a deep gloom. Truly the memory of this excellent young woman is blessed.

Court Minutes.

Court met on Monday at 2 o'clock, with Hon. W. D. Brown, President, and Hon. John Reek and C. A. Hill, Associates, on the Bench. The usual routine work, such as receiving Constable returns, charging Grand Jury &c., &c., was attended to.

Petition in Divorce, Cora V. Wilkins vs. Henry Wilkins, was presented and divorce granted.

Petition of T. C. Jackson for license presented and license granted.

The grand jury has acted on the following up to this morning: Commonwealth vs Charles St. Charles, burglary; a true bill. May Park & Co., prosecutors.

Com. vs Selden Whitman and Solomon Hepler; malicious mischief, cutting and destroying line trees; A true bill. David R. Walters, prosecutor.

Com. vs Andrew Campbell; larceny of shingles; a true bill, but indictment was quashed, the offense having been committed over two years ago. Samuel Clark, prosecutor.

Com. vs D. G. Hunter; cruelty to animals; Henry Manross, prosecutor; not a true bill, and prosecutor to pay costs.

Com. vs D. W. Hunter, larceny of a watch; true bill; Samuel McKee prosecutor. This case was on trial this morning.

The case of Commonwealth vs. Selden Whitman and Solomon Hepler was tried and a verdict of "not guilty" rendered; prosecutor to pay costs.

The burglar case was tried yesterday. The only evidence the defendant, St. Charles, gave was an attempt to prove an alibi. The jury was out about half an hour when a verdict was rendered finding the defendant guilty. Up to the time of going to press the Court had not passed sentence upon the prisoner. He will probably receive his sentence to-morrow.

Log Hauling.

Last Thursday Stephen Taft hauled, with Wheeler & Dusenbury's team, 3,156 feet of pine logs from their log job on Otter, to the mill at East Hickory, a distance of six miles. The load was eleven feet high, and was made up of ten green logs, with the bark on, right fresh from the saw. The logs were not picked with reference to a large load but were taken as they came on the skidway—two twelve-foot butts and eight sixteen. Weight of team 2,275 lbs. Taking into consideration the number and kind of logs, the distance hauled and weight of team, who has exceeded it?

Neilltown Nuggets.

NEILLTOWN, PA., Feb. 28, '81. Mr. Demun is at home now.

Pisaville has no news for the outside world.

Mr. Gorman reports Poverty Hill as all straight up to date.

Diphtheria has gone for the time, and school has "resumed."

Fred, the blacksmith, looks pleasant this morning; it is slippery. Verily what is one man's loss is another man's gain.

Some parties from Titusville were over last week, whose intent it is to put up a saw mill some place near the Fogle Farm.

The West Hickory school, taught by Miss May Monks, of Tidoute, has closed; the first in the township to get through.

Tom Machesney weighed anchor for Stoneham Wednesday. May the winds of prosperity fill his sails, and Fortune sit at the helm.

Dr. Jenkins has been hunting a girl for the last month; he has at last been successful. Forest ought to be able to supply the home demand.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Black has decided to try his fortune in another locality. He will remove beyond Titusville a short distance; he will go sometime during March.

Miss Jennie McCaslin and her grandmother "Aunt Hannah," have returned from Ohio, where they have had their home for a number of years. We are glad to welcome them back again.

Harmony's election passed off quietly. In many townships the Spring elections are marked by considerable effort on the part of candidates to come out ahead. In Harmony, with but slight exception, the trouble is to get candidates at all.

Mr. J. A. Ingell was down on Thursday evening from Triumph; his object being to see members of his concert class about going up to Triumph to assist in a grand concert there on Friday evening. Arrangements were made by members of the class to go but the storm of Friday prevented the class from fulfilling its engagements.

The result of the recent elections was as follows: Judge of election, R. O. Carson; Inspector of election, J. F. Connelly; Assessor and Constable, T. W. Allender; Road Commissioner, J. D. Dawson; School Directors, John Peterson, W. J. Gorman; Treasurer, John Woodcock; Clerk, Syc Neil; Auditor, J. F. Connelly.

Goods cheap at Aug. 11, '80. HASLET & SONS.

Peterson's Ladies Magazine for March came as usual filled, and running over, with good things. "The slide," a first class steel engraving is the first thing that greets you, which is happy in its conception, spirited, and true to nature, while the fashion plates are quite up to those of more expensive magazines. Peterson also contains a variety of matter which is both instructive and entertaining. Subscription only $2.00 a year in advance, with postage prepaid.

The March number of Ballou's Monthly Magazine is issued, and contains a large installment of that thrilling Indian story, "The Crimson Trail," which is so much admired. There is also a nice picture of a banyan-tree, and illustrated article on Shakespeare and his home, a vivid skating scene, some remarkable good poetry, a dozen or twenty stories, and five pages of humorous matter, the best that ever appeared in a magazine. This magazine gives more of a variety than any other publication of the kind in the country, and yet it is sold for the low price of fifteen cents a copy. Published by Thomas & Talbot, 23 Hawley Street, Boston, Mass., at only $1.50 per annum, postpaid.

Overcoats! Overcoats!!

Robinson and Bonner are closing out their stock of overcoats at less than cost in order to make room for their spring stock of clothing, which has just arrived, and now being opened and placed upon their counters. Persons in need of an overcoat next winter will save money by making their purchases now. We would also ask our friends to see our stock of Men's, Boy's and Youth's clothing which is complete in every particular. 3c

MARRIED.

CARSON—CURREN.—At the residence of W. W. Carson, in Bradford, Pa., on Wednesday, Feb. 23, 1881, by the Rev. Mr. Rose, of the Baptist Church, Mr. Z. T. Carson, formerly of Tionesta, and Miss Julia B. Curren, of Bradford.

The above will doubtless be a surprise to Taylor's many friends in this section, yet they will wish him all the good luck and happiness which usually comes from such unions, and in which wish the REPUBLICAN heartily joins. "Kit," if you had sent us down a postal card we might have smoked a "two-for" to your health.

BILLIG—RUSSELL.—At the residence of T. D. Collins Esq., at Beaver Valley, this county, on Monday morning, two minutes past 12 o'clock, February 21, 1881, by Rev. J. F. Hill, Mr. Henry Billig, of Venango county, and Miss Susan Russell, of Warren county.

There is a moral in the above marriage notice which all contemplating the hazardous step should stop to consider. The couple came to Rev. Hill on Sunday evening to be joined, but that gentleman possessing considerable knowledge of the laws of the land, as well as those of the good book, knew that the Supreme Court had decided that marriage was a contract, and all contracts made on Sunday were null and void. But as ministers, generally, dislike to lose a job of this kind—for reasons best known to themselves—the reverend gentleman suggested that the ceremony be postponed until Monday morning, which suggestion was acted upon, and the happy two were made one; and may they ever prosper.
